IN THE THEATRES

JACKSON'S

"THE PRINCESS OF PATCHES." The closing performance of the "Princess of Patches" with Daisy Estelle Allen in the stellar role takes place this evening at Jackson's and a capacity audience should be in attendance to see very pleasing play and an exceptionally talented star. This beautiful young lady fits so well into this powerful play that it is often remarked that it fits her like a glove. The company supporting Miss Allen is far above the average. The stage presentation is all that could be desired while the costuming is both handsome and appropriate.

MR. JACOB ADLER. A powerful performance is the verdict of the entire press of the principal cities of America after witnessing a performance of the Jacob P. Adler All-Star Yiddish Company headed by the eminent Yiddish tragedian Mr. Jacob P. Adler and supported by Mme. Sarah Adler and Miss Frances Adler and an all-star cast of popular Yiddish players. The above company will present here one of their most successful New York plays "The Stranger" written by the late Jacob Gordon. This play was produced at Adler's Theatre, New York City where it had a long and successful run.

During the above performance the above mentioned players will produce types and characters which have never before been seen on any stage and very interesting to those who do not understand the Yiddish language. The management of this company guarantees for the standard and excellence of this company and the reputation of its star. The above play will be produced in the city at Jackson's Theatre, New York City where it had a long and successful run.

MR. LOUIS MANN. "The Man Who Stood Still," Jules Eckert Goodman's latest comedy will be seen here with Mr. Louis Mann as its star on next Friday evening. The play is one of the most successful American comedies and is laid in the east side district of New York City. The story is told vividly and dramatically, it is full of life and it is full of comedy as well but it is not allowed to run away with laughter for the author, Jules Eckert Goodman, has created a new type in the comedy and the play, John Krauss, the role in which Mr. Mann appears.

Lewis Hendricks will be seen in the role of Spiegel. He is a character in the play "The Man of the Hour." Another charming character in "The Man Who Stood Still" is Alice Spiegel, the daughter of John Krauss, and her clearheadedness helps many times in making peace between her hot-headed father and his old chum, Krauss. Seats are now on sale.

THE CLANSMAN. Those who have not kept pace with the recent progress of theatricals are eager to know what the cause of the excitement is. It is a Highland story, referring to the Scottish clans which espoused the cause of James Stuart, the "Bonnie Prince Charlie" and heroism in "The Clansman" are indeed of Scottish origin, but they were displayed on the stage of the old Scotch customs were retained by the South Carolina Klan. The cross of St. Andrew was emblemized on the robe of every member, and the fiery cross or torch signaled from mountain top to mountain top the order for the Klan to strike. These Clansmen comprised the best citizens of the communities in which they lived. They were God-fearing, honest men and their purpose was not to inflict suffering but to restore peace, good order and the reign of law to the devastated and impoverished South. No more thrilling picture has ever been devised by the dramatist than that of the Ku Klux Klan in "The Clansman" as it will be seen at Jackson's next Saturday matinee and evening. Seats can now be secured.

HARD LABOR FOR COUNTERFEITERS

Judge Platt Appoints Committee to Revise Admiralty Rules of Federal Courts in This District.

New Haven, Sept. 28.—In the adjourned August term of the United States District Court, Judge J. P. Platt, on the bench, of the six alleged Italian counterfeiters, Joseph Figelli, Philip Florio, Michael C. Amico, Antonio Posca, Caesar Mandra and Rocco Figliuolo, Figelli agreed to plead guilty, and was allowed to have his case continued until the December term, so that he may wind up his affairs and provide for his family in the meantime.

Figelli has been out on bail for some time. Philip Florio agreed to plead guilty, and was allowed to go until today so that he also may wind up his affairs. Caesar Mandra, Antonio Posca and Michael C. Amico plead guilty. Mandra was given two years hard labor in the U. S. penitentiary and fined $1,000. Posca, hard labor in the county jail and fined $1, and Amico, three years hard labor in the penitentiary and fined $1. Figliuolo's case does not come on.

Sylvester Lawrence, having been indicted by the grand jury for having sent obscene letters through the mails, plead guilty, and was sentenced to three months hard labor in jail, with no costs.

Marshall F. Armstrong, the former letter carrier of this city, charged with taking money from the mails, will, according to the statement of his counsel, Jacob P. Goodhart, plead guilty.

Judge Platt appointed Samuel Park of New York, James D. Dowell and Edward H. Rogers of New Haven, a committee of the admiralty board to revise the admiralty rules that are now in operation for the federal courts in this district, and which now are considered antiquated. The present code has been in vogue since 1880.

NEWTOWN

The ladies of the entertainment committee of the Library Association are making preparations for a whist to be held at the library building on Tuesday evening, Oct. 12. The usual number of prizes will be provided and efforts will be made to make the evening an enjoyable one.

Mrs. James O'Neil and three children have returned to their home in Passaic, N. J., after a pleasant visit at the home of her father, John Keating, in the Glen.

A dance will be held in St. Mary's hall, Sandy Hook, next Saturday evening under the auspices of the Mystic Athletic Club, a recently formed organization.

Miss Julia B. Duncomb left today for a week's visit with Mrs. S. Howell Wright at New Bedford, Mass.

Complete nerve treatment was present in a certain number of cases treated with the serum. One should employ it early, in large doses, and only injection into the spinal canal. It was harmless.

"There was no danger in the overproduction of serum, although it was advisable to remove as much fluid as possible before the injection of the serum. Whenever one was in doubt of the diagnosis an exploratory lumbar puncture should be done.

"Dr. T. M. Rotch of Boston said that before the serum treatment in his cases the mortality was from 60 to 80 per cent. The mortality fell from 80 to 18 per cent. on the use of the Flexner serum. The amount of serum injected varied according to the disease; thirty to forty c. c. was usually sufficient. The mistake was usually in giving too little. It should be repeated at least once a day until the organism disappeared.

"In the cases in which the patient did not respond it was probable that the organisms were in some portion of the brain not reached by the serum or that there were certain strains of the organism that were resistant to the serum.

"Dr. Litterer of Nashville said that he had used the serum in fourteen cases, and four of the patients had died. He believed those that died could have been saved by injecting the serum into the ventricles of the brain."

Paul Clarkson of this city was elected outdoor sentinel of the State council at the session of the Junior Order American Mechanics, held in Danbury yesterday. The per capita tax was increased from 60 to 80 cents.

Not Many Store-Sales Are Uninfluenced by Store-Advertising!

The store-sales to-day that are uninfluenced, directly or indirectly, by store-advertising will not have amounted to ten per cent. of the total business of the day. By the direct influence of advertising is meant the sales of articles specifically advertised. By the indirect influence of advertising is meant the articles sold that are not specifically advertised, but are displayed to the customers who are drawn to the store BY THE ADVERTISED ARTICLES. In the latter case, as surely as in the first, the advertising must be credited with the sale.

Observant merchants know that this is true. They should gain courage from the knowledge to strengthen their advertising campaigns to the point of matching their store-hopes and plans.
